Summary of the Peer Jury Feedback from the March 15, 2025 Deadline – Equinox Program for Indigenous Artists

General information and data

- 15 applications were evaluated by a multidisciplinary peer jury of Indigenous artists.
- The jury was able to award 10 grants with the available budget envelope for this competition (66.7 % success rate).
- 5 additional applications received a status of “Merit.” This status indicates that the jury wished to recommend these applications for funding, but that the program budget was insufficient to fund all meriting applications.
- Of the 10 grants awarded, 2 were awarded to applicants who are receiving their first grant from artsnb.
- For more detailed information on the distribution of grants, including success rates by artistic discipline, please visit the official press release featuring the results of this deadline.

Recommendations on application components

- The jury recommends that applicants write their proposals with a multidisciplinary audience in mind. When describing your project, describe it in a way that will be understandable by a jury of arts professionals from a variety of artistic backgrounds, as some jurors may not be as familiar with the technical terms or needs of your specific art form.
- The jury recommends that applicants include details on their work plan or timeline in their project description so that jury members have sufficient detail to assess the feasibility of the project.
- The jury recommends that applicants ensure that their artist CV is relevant and concise and demonstrates the applicant’s experience in the arts. Please refer to artsnb’s Application Toolkit for more tips on how to write an artist CV.
- The jury also suggested that applicants provide letters of recommendation whenever possible. While letters of recommendation are optional for most artsnb applications, they can provide the jury with valuable perspective on your artistic practice and help your application stand out.
- The jury appreciated budgets that were clear and detailed.
- The jury recommends that applicants provide samples of work that are relevant to the project.
